

Johnston, Allison & Hord provides a broad range of litigation services for real estate, title disputes, and all aspects of title insurance law. Our Real Estate Dispute and Title Claim Defense attorneys have experience in real estate law, litigation, bankruptcy law, and construction law. With attorneys admitted in South Carolina, as well as our firm's membership with Meritas, we are able to represent major title insure companies in local, regional and national matters. We also represent property owners and commercial and residential lenders in real estate title matters.

Our lawyers understand the laws and policies relevant to complex title insurance and are able to represent clients in all matters of real estate and title claim disputes. We have experience in every facet of real estate litigation, title insurance claims, and title defense litigation.
