

FINANCIAL SERVICES

Financial Institutions, big and small, face the challenges of a competitive, dynamic and evolving marketplace. Their customers demand responsiveness, collaboration, and in some cases problem-solving. Financial institutions are required to keep up with, and balance, dynamic market conditions as well as heightened public scrutiny, and to do so in a manner that provides sensible decision making and profitability. We work with banks, specialized lenders, financial services companies, and other institutional firms. Johnston Allison Hord serves its clients facing distressed debt positions, foreclosure, or asset protection.
